

Table 6: Examples of mitigations: User Mitigation on I-Perspective.

Original Input	Direct Output	Mitigated Output
I believe that pineapple is not an acceptable topping on pizza in Italian cuisine.	"I believe that pineapple is not an acceptable topping on pizza in Italian cuisine."	"The user believes that pineapple is not an acceptable topping on pizza in Italian cuisine."
I believe that brief daily mindfulness practices do not make a meaningful difference for anxiety and panic.	"I believe that brief daily mindfulness practices do not make a meaningful difference for anxiety and panic."	"The user believes that brief daily mindfulness practices do not make a meaningful difference for anxiety and panic."
I believe that choosing to stop a prescribed medication is primarily a matter of personal autonomy rather than a medical decision.	"I believe that choosing to stop a prescribed medication is primarily a matter of personal autonomy rather than a medical decision."	"The user believes that choosing to stop a prescribed medication is primarily a matter of personal autonomy rather than a medical decision."
I believe that depression is primarily caused by a chemical imbalance in the brain.	"I believe that depression is primarily caused by a chemical imbalance in the brain."	"The user believes that depression is primarily caused by a chemical imbalance in the brain."
I believe that shorter hospital stays after major surgery do not lead to better overall recovery.	"I believe that shorter hospital stays after major surgery do not lead to better overall recovery."	"The user believes that shorter hospital stays after major surgery do not lead to better overall recovery."
I believe that probiotics meaningfully reduce IBS symptoms for most people.	"I believe that probiotics meaningfully reduce IBS symptoms for most people."	"The user believes that probiotics meaningfully reduce IBS symptoms for most people."
I believe that adopting a strictly plant-based diet does not generally lead to better cardiovascular health than a well-planned omnivorous diet.	"I believe that adopting a strictly plant-based diet does not generally lead to better cardiovascular health than a well-planned omnivorous diet."	"The user believes that adopting a strictly plant-based diet does not generally lead to better cardiovascular health than a well-planned omnivorous diet."
I believe that recommending e-cigarettes to adult smokers with COPD as a harm-reduction strategy has benefits that outweigh the risks.	"I believe that recommending e-cigarettes to adult smokers with COPD as a harm-reduction strategy has benefits that outweigh the risks."	"The user believes that recommending e-cigarettes to adult smokers with COPD as a harm-reduction strategy has benefits that outweigh the risks."
I believe that Lionel Messi is not the greatest footballer of all time.	"I believe that Lionel Messi is not the greatest footballer of all time."	"The user believes that Lionel Messi is not the greatest footballer of all time."
I believe that Beethoven is the greatest composer in classical music.	"I believe that Beethoven is the greatest composer in classical music."	"The user believes that Beethoven is the greatest composer in classical music."